think this particular amendment is the one. Senator Cudaback, could I give the rest of my time to Senator Schimek?

SENATOR CUDABACK: You may if you care to.

SENATOR JANSSEN: Senator Schimek, would...

SENATOR CUDABACK: Senator Schimek.

SENATOR SCHIMEK: Oh, yes, thank you, Senator Janssen. Thank you very much. I appreciate it, Mr. President. Senator Smith, I want to explain to you and to this body my vote on that last amendment. And even though I favor the one casino approach, I can't be changing my vote to one casino until I know that there will be the votes there in the end. And so I guess I would say to anybody who wants to talk to me or to Senator Janssen or to Senator Beutler, we are open to discussion. But what we can't do is just be all over the landscape on this. We have to be able, in the final analysis, to put 30 votes together. If you can bring me votes for your amendments, that's great. I will go along with the one any day, any time; it's my preference. But I don't see it because if we adopt an amendment like that, then we lose a bunch of other folks out here. There's got to be agreement. So I'm willing to talk to you about any of your amendments. Now this particular one I would like to talk about, but I...too many things to talk about. I need to go back to your deriding the idea of not putting this money...or putting this...of not putting the money into the General Fund. And let me say to you, Senator, that's how some states have gotten into trouble. What I envision would happen to these revenues is that you would use them for things that are one-time expenditures. For instance, the low-level waste thing, I mean that's maybe not a good example but it's an example of something that you could take this money and put into. It's a one-time expenditure. It helps your general overall budget, but it doesn't build...get built into the budget so that it's an ongoing expense. The same would be true if we set up a foundation, which I think we should do, and have some grants available to local subdivisions so that if a local school district needed to build an addition to their schoolhouse, for instance, they may be able to get some money out of that fund to help them do that. Does that get into the
